Knowledge sharing & collaboration solutions

Boost the power and potential of Microsoft Office SharePoint Server 2007.

- ◆ Does your organization store a large number of key documents on users' computers?
- ◆ Do you need to secure content access for particular users or groups?
- ◆ Do your employees share information primarily through e-mail?
- ◆ Do you have a way of searching all of your company's information assets from a single location?
- ◆ Do you have SharePoint as part of your Microsoft contract but aren't sure how to take advantage of it?

Information. Advantage and disadvantage?

Over the years, most organizations have invested heavily in technology to manage and control information. But, as these data-intensive solutions play a larger and larger role in managing the business, employees often find themselves mired in information overload—struggling to find the information they need to make the decisions that can make a difference.

To derive value from intellectual capital and succeed in an information-centric world, you need to ensure two things:

- ◆ Your employees have fast, effective, reliable access to current information
- ◆ You are leveraging knowledge and information effectively across your organization

The right information. To the right people. At the right time.

Microsoft Office SharePoint Server 2007 is a platform for enhanced enterprise content management, collaboration, and much more. It facilitates the way people find, organize, and share information by serving as the foundation for intranet, extranet, or Web-based applications that manage content and/or business processes. SharePoint enables an array of vital business processes—from processing insurance claims, to prioritizing and tracking IT governance initiatives, to managing the work of a global project team, to consolidating and reporting sales and marketing data.

Organizations of all types use SharePoint to facilitate:

- ◆ Enterprise content management
- ◆ Document management
- ◆ Business process automation
- ◆ Dashboards, data integration, and reporting
- ◆ Employee collaboration
- ◆ Customer, vendor, or business partner communication
